PUNE GUIDE

- Spring 2013 -

In order for this guide to reflect the growth and continuing development of the city of Pune, it will be updated annually and reissued each spring.

Please send your comments or offerings, or anything you think should be included to: bobby@bobbyclennell.com. If you notice that a phone number listed in this guide doesn't work or becomes redundant, let me know. If you can clarify any of this information, e.g., if you can complete an address, or you notice that an address has changed, please notify me. All contributions that are of benefit to students and teachers of Iyengar yoga who are on their way to Pune will be included.

I am very grateful to the teachers and students who continue to submit material for the Guide. Heartfelt thanks also to future contributors who will help to keep this resource alive and relevant.

Bon Voyage! May this guide help oil your yoga wheels and speed you on your way to a meaningful and safe stay in Pune.

Namaste,

Bobby Clennell

Disclaimer. None of the therapies, medical practices, hospitals, dentists or ayurvedic clinics etc. in this guide have been vetted by me. I accept most of the contributions from the community in good faith, but cannot vouch for them.

VISA REQUIREMENTS

Visas are mandatory for India. For New York students: In effect from October 1, 2007, visa applicants are requested to obtain an Indian visa through Travisa Outsourcing, Inc., at their website: <http://indiavisa.travisaoutsourcing.com>. Any queries related to Indian visa services may also be directed to: Travisa Outsourcing Inc., 316 East 53rd Street, Second Floor, New York, NY 10022. Tel: (212) 754-9900.

Do not leave this until the last minute as it takes several visits to complete the paperwork. You will need the addresses of two people in India for recommendations (and as of January 2010, your birth certificate). Iyengar students often use RIMYI for one of the addresses and the address of their hotel or landlord in Pune for the other. You will also need the exact dates of your arrival in and departure from India.

IMPORTANT!! READ THIS!

In your visa application or interview, do not mention that you're going to study yoga or take classes; always state that you are a tourist. If consulate officials learn you're studying yoga, they will assign you an (X) visa for Yoga or Vedic studies, which requires you to register within two weeks of your arrival in India, with the FRO (Foreign Registry Office) at the Pune Police Commissioner, where you'll receive a Residential Permit. If you don't register there, you may have trouble later on leaving the country.

"Other private expeditors for passports or visas: www.AmericaPassport.com (800-455-5166), and, www.OfficialTravelDocuments.com. They can secure the proper papers faster than the New York-Boston shuttle. Expeditors boast standing appointments at official offices and keep abreast of ever-changing rules. Expect to pay $50 to $500 per document, depending on the rush, plus government fees and overnight costs." – Laura Daily, AARP The Magazine, December 2006

Make three to four copies of your passport and visa to take with you to Pune, along with additional passport photos. This will save you time and energy at the Ramamani Iyengar Yoga Institute, for registering with your landlord and when you go to get a SIM card for your phone or a dongle for Internet access.

WHAT TO BRING:

- Flashlight (for walking at night or blackouts)
- Charger for your digital camera

- AC adapter with converter—may also be purchased in Pune (“The standard converter I brought with me from the U.S. didn’t work, whereas the one I brought locally in Pune did work.” Ed.) It’s also possible to use a simple adapter for European outlets because many electronic devices do not require converters as they are manufactured for global use.
- If staying in a hotel, a kettle for boiling water
- Your favorite tea or coffee
- Your favorite muesli
- Vitamins
- If staying in a hotel, seal-able zip lock bags to store food
- Business cards
- Medications and prescriptions (painkillers, anti-diarrheal drugs, general antibiotics, re-hydration salts and cold and cough medications)
- Tampons
- Sunblock
- Alarm clock
- Small backpack for carrying items to class and for shopping
- Good walking sandals and/or shoes
- Sarong
- If attending during the winter months (November through January), a shawl, sweater or lightweight jacket for early mornings and evenings
- Three sets of yoga clothes
- Small clothesline with clothespins
- Inflatable hangers to avoid wrinkles made by clothespins
- Most restaurants provide washing facilities and towels for customers but baby or bacterial wipes might also be a useful backup or antibacterial hand cleanser comes in handy too as soap is not always available.

- The Lonely Planet Guide to India is the Bible for travelers to the subcontinent. The book has a fairly up-to-date section on Pune. It's massive, though, so consider cutting out only the sections you'll need.
 - If you have been shopping in Pune and you find your suitcase is overweight, be prepared to purchase an extra case in Pune.
- * The RIMYI will ask you for a passport-sized photo of yourself. Bring a few if you are thinking of purchasing a cell phone card or dongle device for the Internet in Pune.
- * Copies of your passport and visa (one set for RIMYI, and two set for your landlord or landlady who have to register you with the authorities plus copies for cell phone cards and internet devices).
- * Look for RIMYI on Google Earth. Print out a map of the immediate area, especially the triangle between Ferguson College Road and University Ave. The neighborhood is not laid out on a grid and can be disorienting. Local Pune maps are not detailed enough to show this. See also the map at the back of this guide.
- * Kitchen gloves are impossible to find in Pune.
- * Glue stick: envelopes do not come with glue on the flap; likewise, stamps are not provided with glue – and post office glue is not very sticky.

Power Supply in India

In India, 220 volts are used to power small appliances. The plug points are three-pin with rounded ends. Use the local plug board with surge protection/combined voltage adapter, which work well and are easily found. Also, a simple adapter to use with a European outlet works fine if the appliance is made for global use.

AIRLINES

Continental Airlines offers direct flights from the U.S. to Mumbai. If you book early, you can get round-trip rates of $1,000 to $1,100.

Delta (Mumbai): Tel: (91-22) 2826 7000 or 2834 9890.

Delta (Pune): Tel: (91-20) 2612 5410. Email: pnq.delta@igatindia.com.

Jet Airways (Pune): 243-244, Century Arcade, B/2, Narangi Baug Road, Pune.

Tel: (91-20) 2616 8153, 2612 7524. Maximum weight for national flights is 25 kg (55 lb.) regardless of the number of bags; the carry-on limit is 7 kg (about 15 lb.). (Jet Airways is an Indian airline. They have great art movies and classical music).

Jet Airways (USA): Tel: 732-339-1191. Jet Airways offers a free shuttle service between the international and domestic terminals; it runs every half hour, 24 hours a day. You must identify your checked luggage to an airline employee on the tarmac before you board the plane or your luggage will not be loaded onto the flight.

Lufthansa now fly direct to Pune from Frankfurt (now provides economy as well as business).

South African Airways (Pune): Tel: (91-20) 2612 5410.

TRAVELING FROM MUMBAI TO PUNE

Travel time by car from Mumbai to Pune is four hours during the day and three hours at night.

Shuttle bus services

Sandi's operates a shuttle bus service from Mumbai International Airport to Pune. It has in the past offered discounted rates (Rs. 450/-) to Iyengar students. Get in touch with Ms. Swati at tel: (91-20) 2443 1155/66/77, or 2447 1464.

or sandis@vsnl.com. Sandi's can also be booked through the Chetak Hotel, tel: 2565 2681, or with Harshada Shirole: hotelchetak@gmail.com. Website: www.sandis.com/Default.aspx.

Fair warning: Sandi's is a little like the Super Shuttle in the U.S. It may take six hours instead of three to get to Pune, depending on who needs to be dropped off, and where.

You can also book individual cars from Sandis.

For other companies that provide transportation directly from the airport to Pune, see www.prasannatours.com/airlink.htm and www.kktravels.com/index.asp.

By Cab or Bus to Pune

Dolphin Cars. Tel: 982-221-4872. Approximately Rs. 2,200.

DoDo Travels. Tel: 2716 0138.

Indian Express Taxi. Tel: 985-005-0855.

KK Travels. Rs. 650 per person from Mumbai to Pune. Discount of Rs. 50 per seat for Iyengar students. Email: kedar@kktravels.com.

Star Tours & Travel. 101, Kalindi Apts, (Vanasthali Bldg.) 318/19B Canal Road, Model Colony, Pune – 4511 016. Brand new Tavera/Indica & all types of tourist vehicles available on hire. Murtuza Dashi is Gulnaz and Ali Dashi's brother and is 100% reliable. Star Travel provides a private car for arrival and departure to and from Mumbai International Airport and the domestic airport in Pune. Tel: 985-004-7885. Tel: +91 -20 – 25677791, 56258294. Email: madashti@yahoo.co.in Tokekar Transportation Services, an enterprise run by Mr. Raj Tokekar, has for several years been providing safe, reliable and reasonably priced door-to-door transportation from Mumbai International Airport to Pune. Mob. 982-306-7511. Email: rajkumar_tokekar@yahoo.co.in.

Vikram. Vikram More is extremely reliable and very knowledgeable about local Maratha history. Ask about day trips or tours. Tel: 985-050-8756; 988-106-0505; or land line number in Pune: 020-2421 3804. Email: vikram_more@yahoo.com.

- The latest on Vikram: his car is small. Students have reported that sometimes two cars have to be ordered for the Mumbai/Pune run in order to accommodate all of the group's luggage, and this can work out to be expensive.

Contact Hotel Chetak: hotelchetak@gmail.com for the most reliable way to get to and from the airport. They have a range of clean, reliable cars suitable for any number of people. Day trips can also be arranged. Sandy's shuttlebus (more affordable) can also be organized by Mrs Harshada at the Chetak Hotel. Mobile number: 98505690044 (India code: 0091). www.hotelchetak.com.

The last time I did this, I paid Mrs Harshada Rs/- 3,000, which was well worth the price I feel, for the security of knowing that the driver would find me at the airport and bring me into Pune safe and sound.*

Roots and Wings are now offering a car service for Mumbai International or domestic Airports. Email: rootsndwings@rediffmail.com. Tel: +91 9923063370.

Sandi's International Tours and Travels

5 Amit Complex

474, Sadashiv Peth, Tilak Rd, Pune-30

Tel: 020 2443 1155. Email: sandistravels@gmail.com

Rs.750/per person. Contact Sandi's directly or book from the Hotel Chetak. (see above: Contact Hotel Chetak and Hotels)

And if your ride to Pune fails to show: There is a reliable car service that operates out of Mumbai Airport. As you leave customs, the "Authorized" (not yellow) cab office is on the right-hand side.

Note on tipping drivers;

One student asked her Indian friends who told her, "Indians don't tip", so it is not expected.

Trains from Mumbai to Pune

The Deccan Queen serves food, i.e., beans on toast for breakfast. Trains require an advance reservation, which you can get from any Mumbai travel agent. You can also make reservations online at <http://www.indianrail.gov.in>.

The domestic and international air terminals are at separate locations with shuttle buses running between them. For more information, talk to the airline staff (also see Airlines above). Flights are limited between Mumbai and Pune since road and rail travel are far more popular.

ACCOMMODATIONS IN PUNE

Editors note: Since it has become impossible over the years to keep up with the ever-increasing prices of these apartments, I have decided to omit them altogether.

I am regretfully unable to enter into any correspondence about these accommodations.

Apartments

Rents for the apartments where RIMYI students stay have escalated alarmingly in recent years. They are much higher than rents elsewhere in Pune and do not reflect the services renters receive. Often apartments are not clean, kitchens not adequately supplied with cooking utensils, Wi-Fi access out of date and not compatible with contemporary computers, showers do not work. Horror stories run from cockroach infestations to being without hot water for most of the month. Apartments like these should be removed from the Pune Guide during its annual update. Report problems to the editor as soon as possible.

Whereas we would like to see the prices of these apartments to come down, we certainly do not want to see them go up.*

Warn landladies that their apartment will be dropped from the Guide unless they live up to the "western" prices being demanded. "Hidden charges" are creeping in, with subsidies charged for Wi-Fi, electricity and more. In addition, ask your landlady to help you with your mobile phone needs ahead of time and provide you with some local electrical plugs; demand the apartment be "spring cleaned" before you arrive.

Two apartments: 1) Ali and Kate's apartment, Shristi Tara apartment, is on the other side of the park on the fifth floor. It is a large two bedroom, with a big living room, kitchen and two baths. It's a five- minute walk from Institute.

2) The Hill View apartment is also a two-bedroom apartment with a balcony on the fourth floor of a building located opposite Jain Boarding in Model Colony, also very close to the institute

Contact for both apartments: Tahera Dashti (sister of Gulnaaz): Email: tahera1234@yahoo.com,

Jaya and Mohan, who many will remember as the couple who used to make wonderful meals on special occasions at the New York Institute, have a very nice apartment in a quiet residential area near the university, which is available for rent to Iyengar students studying at RIMYI. It's a rickshaw ride from the Institute, (although getting a rick at night may be a challenge or simply more expensive as most rickshaw drivers from the Institute may not want to drive to that part of town at night). The apartment has a fully equipped practice area—ropes, chairs, etc. Jaya and Mohan now live in Mumbai. To make a reservation, email them at jiness@yahoo.com. Speed Internet, but not unlimited however.

Tel: (91-20) 2566 2195.

Neena Shahani's apartment on Hare Krishna Mandir Road is on the other side of the park. She also has another rental on the same property. The rental on the second floor of her house has a separate entrance and two bedrooms, which can be rented out separately or together, one bathroom, and a big, sunny second-floor terrace on the park side. The other apartment, behind the house, has been recently renovated. It's a self-contained little house with a kitchen, bath, and small living area downstairs and a loft bedroom upstairs—cute, but a little dark. Email: Mane106@hotmail.com.

Nanda and her husband Murtuz have hopefully completed the purchase of a two-bedroom, two-bathroom apartment in the Gobind building, which shares a driveway with Jivan Deep. Murtuz (who runs the Murtuz-Dashti car service) will be managing the rental of this apartment. Email: tahera1234@yahoo.com.

Three apartments are available, approximately 800 meters from the Institute: The first, on the top floor of the bungalow with a separate entrance, comprises a kitchen, two bedrooms, and bathroom with a hot-water boiler. The hall has a bed, sofa set, 29" TV and a closed shoe rack; it connects to a passageway with a basin and toilet. One bedroom has two beds, wardrobes, writing table, phone and Internet connection; the other has one bed, a small table and three shelves. The kitchen has a dining table, microwave oven, refrigerator, mixer, toaster, all necessary utensils, cooking gas, washing machine in the attached laundry area, water purifier, wardrobes and cupboards.

The second apartment, with a separate entrance on the ground floor, has two rooms and a veranda, air conditioning in one room, two beds (one small bed can be kept in the dining room), dining table, microwave oven, TV, refrigerator, mixer, all necessary utensils, cooking gas, washing machine, water purifier, toaster, cupboards, and bathroom with hot-water boiler

The third apartment is on the first floor of bungalow. The toilet block, which is separate from the apartment and can be reached only by descending 15 steps, has a basin, toilet, hot-water boiler and a shower. We are planning to move the toilet block inside April – May 2010. The kitchen has a sink, cooking gas, toaster, refrigerator and all necessary utensils. In the bedroom are a writing table, wardrobes and hangers, a clothes-drying rack, fan, water purifier, refrigerator and TV.

An additional kitchen facility is available for all three apartments. The first and the third apartments have a common door that is kept locked, but upon request it may be left open so that the three bedrooms and two toilets can be shared.

Broadband can be arranged for all three as well. Bicycles are available. Maid service, Internet, cooking gas, air-conditioning, etc., will be charged additionally per use. Email: milinddarp@gmail.com.

Guidelines for tipping maidservants:

Unlike Europe and the U.S., India does not have tipping customs per-se, and practices vary greatly, even among the locals. Here are some guidelines from a foreign student living in Pune: “If you feel you got good service, then tip. If you feel let down—the maidservant decided to take a break and didn't let you know or she hardly cleaned—then don't tip. Two hundred to three hundred rupees are plenty for one month if the work was done. This is much higher than what the locals pay, because when the maidservant is a regular worker, a good employer will help her with medical expenses, marriage costs, etc. There is an ongoing obligation to assist an employee in times of need. Tenants of one month (such as yoga students) do not have this responsibility. As students are only in the apartments for six to eight months of the year, maximum, tipping gives maidservants extra income to cover the lean times. Do not be bullied into over tipping, and do not let a maidservant bring in another person while working. Be polite, but keep a professional distance. Stealing is common, so keep all valuables locked away. Some landlords have maidservants that are treated like part of the family and trusted totally. Others employ servants randomly with no background checks or recommendations, putting tenants in a vulnerable position. If you want to give financial assistance to someone in need, by all means, help if you can. When our maidservant's husband nearly died, the tenants gave her money for medical bills. But always speak to the landlord/agent first to verify that the need is genuine.”

A brief note on electronic hotel safes:

This came from a student who recently stayed in Pune: “On the surface, the prudent thing to do would be to use your hotel room safe. However, some of the electronic safes are prone to breaking down and have no master key, at least at the Ambience Hotel. The staff seemed sympathetic to my plight when the electronics on my safe quit and it wouldn't open, but none of them had the authority to carry out the obvious and only solution: to pull it out of the wall and break it open. It took three days to get permission from the hotel manager before one of the staff could bash it open with a hammer.”

RAMAMANI IYENGAR MEMORIAL YOGA INSTITUTE (RIMYI)

RIMYI Address

Ramamani Iyengar Memorial Yoga Institute (RIMYI).

1107, B/1, Hare Krishna Mandir Road, Near Pune Central Mall, Model Colony, Shivaji Nagar, Pune 411016, Maharashtra, India.

Tel (Mr. Pandurang Rao (aka Pandu): 91-0202565 6134.

www.bksiyengar.com

Please remember that attending classes at the Institute is a privilege and not a right. All classes are taught in English. Students should have a working vocabulary in English and have listened to the many available CD's of Prashantji and Geetaji's classes to familiarize themselves with their pronunciation and use of terms. Knowing the Sanskrit names of all asana is required.

Before entering the Institute building, shoes must be removed and placed in the metal racks provided for that purpose. This area is protected and there is a guard to see that your shoes don't disappear. Please do not put your shoes in a bag and take them into the Institute.

Checking in

- Check in with Pandu when you first arrive at the Institute. He is available from 9 am to 12 noon and 4 pm to 7 pm Monday through Saturday. Closed Sunday. Tel: 910202565-6134 (call him when he is at the Institute). Email: info@rimyi.org. This takes you to the Institute office. Mark your email 'For Pandu'.

The Institute is closed on Sundays (except for the childrens' class on Sunday morning).

- You will be assigned to the classes that Pandu has selected for you based on whether you are a first-time student or have attended previously. You will also be given a schedule for practice times in the asana hall. Certain classes are set, e.g., all female students must attend the Wednesday and Saturday women's classes.
- Never try to take a class that you haven't been assigned to. The Iyengars and Pandu will be informed, and they will not appreciate it.

Pay Pandu for your course, the amount owed after your deposit. Class tuition may be paid in cashier's checks (bank checks), traveler's checks, or cash—rupees, dollars or euros. Class fee for the month is $400/month.

- To observe either the general class or medical classes, one must request permission from Pandu and pay the class fee of $100.
- If you want to assist in the medical class, ask Pandu first. You must be certified at a Junior I level or higher to do so.
- Students foreign to India who arrive at the Institute without having been booked through the usual channels may be offered classes not taught by the Iyengars on the second floor. Beginners and intermediate level classes are held every day except Sunday, when the Institute is closed. Students who have studied for at least two years may also attend a 90-minute class—again, not taught by the Iyengars—on the second floor. Participation in these classes is entirely at RIMYI's discretion, so it helps if the student is not insistent. It also helps if the (non-beginner) student mentions the name of the Iyengar teacher with whom he or she has been studying. The program starts on the first of the month and ends on the last day of the month; it may also be extended for more than one month.
- Advanced classes and practice sessions are offered on the first floor. Intermediate and beginner classes meet on the second floor (see above).

RIMYI Store

Store hours are from 9 am to 12 noon and 4 pm to 6 pm on weekdays and Saturday. The Iyengars are wired for amplification and sound recording in the asana hall. CD's of their classes are available at the store. Also available are DVD's (when the class has been videotaped), books and props. Parvez sells CD's of Prashantji's classes, exclusively, and accepts only cash.

Advice from a student who recently returned from Pune: “I advise you not to test the Institute DVD’s in your computer’s DVD drive. A few of us had problems ejecting the DVD’s after they froze. They usually work better in a stand-alone DVD player.”

Protocol before and during class

- Please bathe prior to class whether you attend morning or evening class.
- Classes are large; come early to the yoga hall early (10 to 15 minutes minimum) to claim a space. If you are late coming into the hall, sit by the door to chant invocation. If you are late, do not walk around the room looking for a spot.
- During class, anyone who needs help jumping up into Adho Mukha Vrksasana or Pincha Mayurasana should line up against the rope wall and be ready when the helper arrives.
- Avoid doing Adho Mukha Vrksasana on the platform with feet pointing up under the Shiva statue; take care that you are not touching the photographs of Guruji with your feet (this is particularly relevant in the area near the entrance to asana room). Also, do not put your feet against the base of the Patanjali statue.
- During the months when classes are large, assistants will make certain that everyone has a place and the appropriate props. Geeta, or whoever is teaching will not start until everyone is accommodated.
- Find a place and position yourself in the vertical rows radiating from the center of the room, in front of the platform where the teacher begins class.
- Talking in the asana room is generally kept to a minimum. Small talk is discouraged during practice sessions and while waiting for the class to begin. Confine your conversation to yoga-related topics.
- A request to “alternate yourself” means that the person in the center vertical line in front of the platform should lie with his or head toward the platform and the persons to the left and right of him or her should lie with their heads facing in the opposite direction of the center person. Continue in this manor to the end of the line. In Savasana, this allows you to spread your arms without restriction by placing them between each of your neighbor’s forearms and their torso.

Props

- After the invocation, any blankets or bolsters that are not required for immediate use should be placed so that the teachers may walk around the room and adjust the students without worry of tripping over them.
- Props for the asana class: The prop room is at the opposite end of the hall from which one enters. Prepare for the invocation by providing yourself with a sticky mat and the appropriate number of blankets to sit on
- Props for Pranayama class: a thick mat (the stack is placed at each end of the hall), a bolster and generally one blanket. Make sure your fingernails are clipped before class. And have a handkerchief (tissues are not permitted in the class) on hand, in case you need one.
- When props are requested, they can be passed out of the prop room to the students. This applies to chairs, belts, blocks, bolsters and blankets.
- For efficiency and speed in collecting the props you need, it helps to be friendly to your neighbor and agree to watch props for each other and share the task of collecting them.
- Sticky mats are very valuable in Pune and the Institute takes great care to preserve them. Do not place wooden props or chairs on them. And do not fold the thick mats, even when carrying them or putting them on the floor. Many students bring their own sticky mats and donate them to the Institute at the end of their stay, and this is much appreciated.
- Setting up the mats for Sarvangasana: Pair up with another student and carry the required number of mats between you. Generally, four rows of mats are placed in straight lines, parallel to one another. The first row is placed three feet from the front of the stage and successive rows are arranged with three feet between them. The piled mats provide the base for Sarvangasana. More height (a folded sticky mat and blanket) may be added if required. You may be asked to “alternate yourself” for Sarvangasana, particularly if you are going to do the variations. Do not, however, assume that the setup for each class is exactly the same. Listen carefully to the teacher and assist one another so the class can proceed smoothly.
- Do not leave the hall until all the props are put back in the closet and the windows closed. Endeavor to put away more props than you used. This will ensure that cleanup is quick and easy.

Observing classes

- When observing a class, be aware of how you are impacting the students taking the class. This is of the utmost importance. If you are sitting at the back of the room near the windows, act responsibly by moving to make space for those attending class.
- If you are sitting in the stairwell observing, you must allow students to enter and exit the second floor classroom. The stairwell is circular, therefore be sure to stand away from the broader part of the staircase so these students can ascend and descend.

Taking photographs is strictly forbidden, either of classes or of the students or Guruji in the practice session. However, permission may be granted in certain circumstances; ask Abhijata if you wish to take a picture or two of the children's class.

Guidelines for women

- Menstruating women are assigned to a designated area at the back of the asana room where they follow a sequence of poses given by an assistant. Tell an assistant that you are menstruating as soon as you arrive at class. Do not join the class if you are having your period and then drop out during inversions, i.e., don't wait until Sirsasana to tell someone you have your period. It is very distressing to Geetaji when someone decides they don't need to be "on the side." This is considered very rude.
- Dress respectfully for class, e.g., a short-sleeved T-shirt, not a close-fitting tank top or camisole with spaghetti straps. Remember to tuck your T-shirt into your shorts.
- If you have long hair, tie it back.

Tradition, etiquette and other helpful tips

- While waiting to enter the hall for class, stay to the left side of the stairwell so those leaving class can descend.
- If you are unwell, e.g., if you have diarrhea or a migraine, you should tell an assistant immediately upon arrival to class and follow their instructions. You won't remain in the regular class but will join a separate group and practice a modified sequence. If you have a fever, bed rest is best—stay home.

- The trestle closest to the prop room is Guruji's area during the practice sessions and evening classes. Do not attempt to set up in that area or move any of the props there. The stage area is often set up during practice sessions for one of the Iyengars. Be attentive if you see that things are being arranged for them; always put their practice before yours.
 - When sitting facing the stage listening to a discourse by Guruji, Geetaji or Prashantji, do not display the soles of your feet. Cross your legs or fold them to the side, or sit in Vajrasana or Virasana.
- * When observing Guruji in the practice sessions, please do not take notes!

Holidays at the Institute

(These dates are approximate; check Google for exact dates as they are not the same each year)

- Republic Day – January 26
- Gudi Padwa – March 20. (per Hindu calendar)
- Hanoman Jayanti – April 2 (per Hindu calendar)
- May – Institute is closed for the entire month
- Guru Purnima – July (per Hindu calendar)
- Independence Day – August 15
- Ganesh Purnima – September (per Hindu calendar)
- * Daserra – October (per Hindu calendar)
- Patanjali Jayanti – November 7 – no evening classes
- Diwali – Date varies, it can be October or November (per Hindu calendar). Diwali is a five-day festival starting November 5, 2010 and Oct 26, 2011. Expect the Institute to close for at least three days. There will be non-stop fireworks in the streets the week before and after Diwali. "Many of us left town during Diwali because of the noise and smoke in the neighborhood. Goa is a good Diwali-break destination—one hour by plane from Pune. Other students headed to the KARE Ayurvedic retreat at Mulshi Lake, an hour's drive from Pune."

(Please note: Dates are approximate. Please check the RIMYI schedule.)

GETTING AROUND PUNE

Auto rickshaws

The best and most economical way to get around Pune:

Always make sure the driver starts the meter.

Some of the old rickshaws do not have up-to-date meters. You may need a tariff card to calculate the exact fare. You can pick them up at the Ambience Hotel.

Auto rickshaw driver Nana, is recommended by Iyengar students. He speaks English and is reliable and punctual if a booking time is confirmed. If the time is not confirmed and you are told to call him “when you are ready” be aware he may not be available when you call. He can also arrange for airport transfers and take you to unfamiliar locations in Pune, and he’ll wait while you sightsee, shop, etc. He charges metered rates. Nana has made many “foreign friends.” On one occasion, he took some teachers on a Sunday morning, out-of-town bird-watching expedition. Tel: 989-033-9346

An alternative to Nana, who is frequently unavailable, is to call (via cell phone) the place you wish to visit and have someone there give directions to your driver.

Another alternative is to print out the address of your destination and give it to the driver, but this is less reliable as not all drivers read or speak English.

Mr. Shewte, another reliable driver, can be reached at 976-365-5547 or 942-235-2578.

Amin - rickshaw driver. Responsible, punctual, honest and speaks English. Recommended. Tel: + 91 9604933059

Important Note: It is not advised to go out alone after 10:00 pm. It is not 100% safe, even around the Model Colony area.

THINGS TO DO IN PUNE, AND BEYOND

A must see for those interested in the cultural history of Pune and beyond: Raja Dinkar Kelkar Museum, one collector's extensive and eclectic collection of folkloric and spiritual artifacts from all parts of India. 1377-78, Natu Baug, off Bajirao Road, Shukrawar Peth, Pune 411002. Website: <http://www.rajakelkarmuseum.com/index.asp>.

Parvati Hill. A collection of about five temples high up on Parvati Hill. The best time to go is 5 pm, when the sun is down. At the top you can see the whole of Pune. It's a 15-minute rickshaw ride from the Institute.

Shinde's Temple located at Shinde Chhati, Wanowrie: as one student put it, "one of the most peaceful and beautiful temples I visited in Pune".

Pataleshwar Cave Temples. Shivaji Nagar, not far from the Institute, from the 8th century.

Mahatma Phule Museum. Shivajinagar, Ghole Road, Tel: 020-553-2750 | dusty museum with artifacts, geology samples, etc. Interesting and a bit odd.

Swimming pools in Pune

Near the Institute, on University Road, next to the E-Square Multiplex, is the Gordon Hotel, which has a pool on its roof where you can swim for 250 rupees. For more on E-Square facilities: www.e-squareindia.com/our_company.html.

- The Pride Hotel and the Gordon hotel are both within walking distance from RIMYI.

A new swimming pool has opened on Range Hill Road at the Symbiosis Health Center, a couple of kilometers from the Institute. Highly recommended.

Movie theaters in Pune

E-Square Movie Theaters. No. 132, University Road, Ganeshkhind, Pune, Maharashtra 411016, India (same building as Gordon House Hotel). Phone: 020 66044111. <http://www.e-squareindia.com>. Walking distance from Institute.

Day and weekend trips

Karla and Bhaja caves are only about an hour from Pune, in Lonavla, off the Mumbai-Pune Highway. Though not as spectacular as the Ajanta and Ellora caves, they are very interesting. A day trip for four with an air-conditioned car should cost less than 2,500 rupees. Weekends the Karla caves are crowded with Hindu devotees—it's frantic but fun, if that's your cup of tea. The Bhaja caves are more serene. Both require a 20-minute steep uphill hike, so dress appropriately.

Aurangabad:

Daulatabad Fort. This is a spectacular fort. If you are visiting the nearby Ellora Caves, take time to visit Cave Crystals Handicraft & Natural Stones, across from the Kailas Hotel and walking distance from Ellora Caves. It offers an array of beautiful stones and crystals for great prices. Milan Restaurant – great restaurant frequented by locals but not often by tourists.

Kailas Hotel. Tel: 024 372 44446. www.hotelkailas.com. If you plan on staying overnight in Aurangabad, this hotel is highly recommended.

Ajanta and Ellora Caves. This remarkable site is only a few hours from Pune. The magnificent temples and monasteries carved into the rocks contain sculpture and painting that represent Buddhist, Hindu and Jain art dating from 800 AD. The Kailasa Temple is twice the size of the Parthenon; the life of the Buddha is painted on the walls of another temple. Book a car and a driver in Pune and stay at a hotel in Aurangabad or near the caves.

From a student at the Institute: "I didn't go, but I received a quote from The Traveler/Silver Jubilee Travelers of 16,000 rupees for two people, which included a driver with an air-conditioned car—way above my budget. The agent takes a heavy profit on the hotel room; it's better if you can arrange the trip directly through a car service and book your own hotel."

From another student: AC bus from Shivaj Nagar bus station leaves every half hour for Auragabad-a 4-5hr.trip. Be sure to specify "AC Bus" From there, hire a car to the caves. Ajanta is a 3 hour drive and Ellora is 30-45 minutes from Aurangabad.

You can also have your driver take you to Ajanta and then drop you off at a hotel in Ellora.

Recommended Hotel in Aurangabad:

The Lemon Tree

Wi-fi, restaurant, good service. Book weekends in advance.

Staff can arrange a car to the caves and a tour if you like. Recommended: one day for each site. Both are spectacular.

Highly recommended! The Best!

*Sk. Sadeek-a very gracious generous spirit and native of Ellora is part owner of a lovely 32 member co-op fabric shop there called Aurangabad Handloom Products. Sadeek can arrange for cars to and from Ellora as well as guesthouse or hotel accomodations. He also knows all the "secrets" of the caves.
Tel: +919960589867*

Jejuri. A pilgrimage site, one hour from Pune.

KARE Ayurvedic Retreat. (See Ayurvedic resources.)

Matheran. This incredible place to visit is only three hours from Pune. No cars are allowed in Matheran. Walking, horseback riding and man powered rickshaws are the only modes of transportation. The views here rival Hawaii's. There is a 900 foot zip line crossing over a 1000 foot valley – a must try. Laxman Nagu Akhade, and his brother, Naresh Akhade are reliable horse guides: tel: 94 21966313, and their horses are well taken care of. Student's comments: "The air is good but on the weekends the pathways get extremely dusty from all the visitors. When going riding or walking go early or late in the day. Get back before nightfall as the pathways are not lit. The views are only OK during the dry season due to pollution but still it was a lovely visit. The miniature train to the top is fun although slow, it is just as nice to walk. There is a barrage of drivers and guides waiting for you at the entrance/exit to Matheran, best to book your needs in advance."

Lords Hotel: <http://matheranhotels.com>.

Verandah in the Forest: <http://neemranahotels.com/>

Dasvino Country Club. 30 Event Center, At Post: Dasve Lavasa, Taluka Mulshi, Pune 412 112. Situated on the banks of the Warasgaon lake in Dasve, Lavasa is a planned hill city. 1 ½ hrs drive from Pune, come for the day to unwind, swim, sun bathe and eat. www.lavasa.com. Tel: +91 22 4025 6000.

Longer trips:

Agra. Fly to Delhi, and then drive to the Taj Mahal.

Diveagar, Konkan Coast. A rural, non-commercialized, beach town, this is Goa without the glam. Most people do not speak English, the accommodations are very basic, no frills. It is a very beautiful, peaceful seacoast town surrounded by jungles and rice fields. To visit, contact Vikram Moore (p.13).

Darjeeling. Drink first flush tea in the Himalayan Alps.

Nasik. Recommended by an Iyengar student: “This is on the Godavari River, one of India’s holiest rivers. Nasik serves as a base for pilgrims and is host to the largest religious gatherings on earth. The Ramkund bathing tank was one of the highlights of my visit. Hindu pilgrims arrive daily to bathe, pray, and immerse the ashes of departed family members into the Godavari River.”

Hotek Abhisek is walking distance to all of the temples, ghats, restaurants, etc. This is one of the more modern hotels near the river. Tel: 2514201. Hotabhinusk@sancharnet.in.

Sikkim. A little-known Indian territory nestled between Tibet, Bhutan and Nepal—it’s an Eco-travelers paradise. Tel: 948-431-8497.

Email: gyatsok@yahoo.com. Website: www.sikkimvacation.com.

Varanasi. Consider visiting one of the holiest cities in the world. A travel agent can assist you. Most RIMYI students stay at the Ganges View Hotel.

TRAVEL AGENTS/TOUR COMPANYS

 A word of advice from your editor: when booking with any of these companies, particularly if English is not your first language, be really clear and absolutely specific about the type of hotel (three star etc.) you require, the type of tour you want and your travel dates so that there are no misunderstandings.*

CURRENCY AND BANK INFORMATION

The currency in India is rupees. Approximately 38 to 47 rupees are equivalent to one U.S. dollar.

Many commercial establishments, such as hotels, department stores, airlines, etc., accept MasterCard and Visa credit cards. Be aware that credit card companies have started charging foreign currency conversion fees of two to three percent.

It is advisable to always carry sufficient cash. For most transactions—at restaurants, Internet cafés, small stores, grocers and pharmacies—you'll need cash.

Money

- Check rupee bills carefully when exchanging money. Reject heavily creased or torn bills, as no one will accept them. Staple holes (where the notes are held together in bundles) are acceptable.
- There are foreign exchange agents at the international airport and a few hotels in the city that are authorized to change money.
- Bank of Maharashtra (top end of Hari Krishna Mandir Road) no longer changes traveler's checks. The closest branch, with new installations and a friendly staff, is on Fergusson College road, across the street from the Lalit Mahal Restaurant. Its exchange rate is better than at the Institute or the Thomas Cook exchange offices. Bring your passport.
- The most convenient way to get money is at an ATM, which can now be found almost anywhere. However, many banks (e.g., Citibank, Chase) charge exorbitant fees to process withdrawals overseas, so before leaving, find out what their rates are. Also, not all credit cards work in all machines, so if at first you don't succeed, be prepared to do a little research. There is a Citibank ATM with a guard near Pune University that is open 24/7 and recommended. There is a great ATM in the block of the Toyota dealership. It is standard that one can only withdraw 10,000 rupees per transaction when using a foreign card.
- * A bank representative also comes to RIMYI to change traveler's checks and foreign currency to rupees during morning practice sessions from 11 am to noon. More rupees are given for cash than checks.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS

Time Zones: Pune is 9½ hours ahead of the U.S. Eastern Standard Time in summer and 10½ hours ahead in winter. India is 3½ hours ahead of South Africa.

Telephone Information: 197 or 183.

To call India from the U.S.: dial 011-91-20 for Pune, and 011-91-22 for Mumbai, followed by the telephone number.

To call Australia from Pune: dial 0061 followed by the telephone number, including the area code.

When calling local landlines when in Pune dial 020 before the number.

When calling Indian cellphones dial a 0 before the 9.

To call the U.S. from India: dial 001 followed by the telephone number, including area code.

To call Pune from South Africa: dial 09-91-20 followed by the telephone number.

To call South Africa from India: dial 00-27 followed by the number.

When calling RIMYI, Pandu, tel (91-20) 2565 6134, may be reached during the following hours: From 9 am to 11 am, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday; and from 4 pm to 6 pm, Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Most apartments in Pune have a land-line, or at least an incoming one, so people can always phone you. Some may have a Tata Indicom prepaid phone; for 200 rupees you can buy units for the card and use it to phone anywhere in the world.

Getting an Indian cell phone is becoming harder with new anti-terror laws in effect and residency is often required. It is advisable to bring with you a cell phone that is unlocked to work on any network.

You can use your GSM cell phone internationally, but it is cheaper to buy a local SIM card (this is the chip that gives you phone service). A store assistant at a cell phone store can unlock your cell phone to enable you to use an Indian SIM card but it is more reliable to do so at home before you go. You pay about 20 rupees for the SIM and then the same number of rupees per minute, so if you pay 375 rupees, you get 375 local minutes. Be sure to ask for “full talk time” when buying minutes. When you call outside the country, the rupees to minutes ratio increases. In 2012, it cost about 12 cents a minute to call the U.S. from a cell phone.

Please note: The Indian government has tightened the restrictions severely on foreigners purchasing Indian SIM cards in the wake of the Mumbai attacks because stolen SIM cards were used there. To obtain a SIM card, you will need a copy of your Registration of Foreigner C-Form supplied by your landlord (although not all landlords will supply this form if they are renting off the books); a copy of your visa and passport and a passport photograph. The most effective way to get phone service is to go to a mobile providers main office, there are several placed around the city. Give yourself at least an hour to get things up and running as well as make certain your phone is functioning properly, meaning make a call and see it connects, before you leave the shop. For data, 3G service is available in India. Also, if you are using data be sure to check it is functioning before you leave the shop. Both phone service and data service on the mobile phone is good and reliable. A main Vodafone store is fairly close to Model Colony in the area called Wakadewadi on Central Avenue, never too crowded and perfectly nice to sit in and wait.

From a student: "...I found out the hard way that it even more difficult to get a SIM card now. Not only do you have to provide all the required documentation, now you have to go through a verification process. I had to speak with an agent at the phone company who verified and validated my application a day or two after the submission. Thereafter I had to charge the SIM with Rs 25/ and then Rs 2/ before I could add any value to the card. This was key - I had just bought the roughly Rs 400/ special deal and expected that amount would be credited to my SIM but it would not be the case. Only after charging the SIM with the additional Rs 25/ and Rs 2/ did it allow the 400 to be charged. NOTE: this additional 25 and 2 amount/ may be different for different providers - you may have to ask and find out. So, this whole process delayed me actually having a usable SIM by 3-4 days".

 Ask your landlady to help by providing the relevant documents ahead of time.*

Or you can buy a calling card (paper sheets with code numbers printed on them). Get one at the post office and purchase the maximum units. Editors note: Two conflicting reports were sent in on calling cards. The last I heard from a student was that she was unable to buy a calling card from any post office. If anyone has any ideas on where these can be purchased, please let me know. Also, phone cards often don't work, so don't count on them.

These cards make calling home much easier. You can use them on your private (land-line) phone in your apartment or hotel room.

You will find ISD (International Subscriber Dialing) booths in every nook and cranny and on every street corner. From these booths you can make international calls and pay for them in cash. They're quite expensive, for example, calling the UK may cost about seven rupees a minute. A convenient and quiet booth is located at the Chetak hotel (some of the others can be very noisy).

Skype or other computer-based phone services are also available and cost about .08 cents a minute to call the U.S.

To get dongle (wireless internet access for your laptop) while in India, you can go to the 3-G store on Ferguson College Road. You will need a completed C form (completed by your landlord and certified at the police station), a copy of a telephone or electric bill from your landlord, a clear, readable copy of your passport and visa, a color passport photo (get one across the street from the 3-G store). The 3-G store prefers that you pay in rupees, not with a credit card. The cost is approx. 2000 rupees.

Editors note: when booking your apartment, ask your landlord or landlady if the apartment has Wi-Fi. If it doesn't, move on! It's common for apartments to offer Wi-Fi these days.

Internet Cafes

The cyber cafe opposite the Chetak Hotel is now closed. However the Chetak currently has Wi-Fi access, which is fairly reliable and it's nice to take a tea or lime soda while using the Internet. Rs/- 30 per hour.

The Ambassador Hotel provides Internet access at 200 rupees per use, and although it's expensive, it saves you a trip to the Reliance on Ferguson College Road, where you pay a fixed rate of 300 rupees each time you log on.

Internet World is located on the FC Road opposite the petrol station: walk to FC Road from Toyota corner and turn right. They have a bunch of PC's and charge 10 Rupees per hour.

Pune Central: near the entrance, Wi-Fi.

HEALTH AND MEDICAL CONCERNS

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (U.S.). Refer to this government website for information on vaccination since recommended shots may depend upon the season. Website: www.cdc.gov/vaccines.

This was sent to us by a teacher traveling to Pune for the first time: “I went to the county health department located at a local hospital and they recommended a tetanus/diphtheria shot, a typhoid shot and a hepatitis shot. They also gave me prescriptions for antibiotics for respiratory infections and diarrhea, and for malaria. I am going ahead with it all just to be on the safe side.”

Water

It is advisable to drink bottled water or filtered water. Most restaurants have filtered water but you should inquire before drinking it. Do not drink water directly from the tap. You can purchase packaged purified water or pay a deposit on a dispenser drum with a tap. Stores will deliver the 20-liter refill that fits on top of a dispenser drum.

UV Steripen and Nalgene bottle: From a student: “$88 at Amazon, this is a great investment if you are traveling and have doubts about water. I used this, even with unfiltered water in my apartment, and I stayed healthy for three months in India this past trip. The UV light kills everything in the water and the rays can't exit the water surface, so it is safe.”

Check that water filters in apartments are serviced. They need to be serviced every year to be effective. From a local resident yoga student: “Our daughter has had filtered drinking water since she was a baby. It is better quality than bottled water and has no excess plastic.”

Gastrointestinal precautions

Living in a tropical country, one can be prone to gastrointestinal infections. December is considered to be a “safer” season, but it is advisable to err on the side of caution. Always eat food that has been freshly cooked and is hot. Avoid eating frozen, precooked food or raw food that has not been washed in filtered water (or in salted water). Use water purification tablets or silver filters. Avoid infection by washing your hands frequently.

GSE

To prepare the intestinal tract for the potential onslaught of new bacteria and parasites, you should start to take GSE (grapefruit seed extract) one week before departure and continue taking it throughout your stay in India. It is a horrible-tasting goop, but with fruit juice or yogurt, it’s easier to ingest. Another way to take it is to add it to a fizzy vitamin C drink (Emergen-C) or Airborne. GSE also boosts the immune system and is a good remedy for candida.

Malaria

There is a lot of malaria in India, and mosquitoes can be a problem. Mosquito repellents in the form of vaporized liquids may be used. Common brands All Out and Good Night are available at any drug store or general store. Mosquito repellent ointments are also available. Cover yourself up (long sleeves, long pants—like the locals dress) from dusk to evening hours.

Artemisin

Artemisin is an antimalarial herb. Two varieties of South American Artemisin, Gozarte and Udarte, are available from Healing Within Products Inc., 1-800-300-7548, www.healingwithin.com. This supplier specializes in parasite healing and has good information and products. Two small books cover most allopathic and herbal remedies: Parasites: An Epidemic in Disguise, by Stanley Weinberger, from Healing Within Products; and Guess What Came to Dinner, by Dr. Ann Louise Gittleman (which also has a catalog of pharmaceutical options). Another supplier specializing in herbal parasite cleansing is Uni Key: <http://www.unikeyhealth.com>. On the upside, parasitic infection is a rare occurrence if you are careful. The downside is that it can take a long time to fix.

Pollution

Pollution is pretty bad in Pune. It is less bothersome during the monsoon season in July and August. You can purchase an I Can Breathe® mask with a carbon filter at www.icanbreathe.com or www.magellans.com. Sally Rutzky, from Ann Arbor, who has been to Pune eight times over the last 20 years, said that she used one in January and that it was the very first time she did not contract a sinus infection. Change the filter and wash the mask on a weekly basis.

Amazon is another source of MSA N95 masks for a good price: 20 pack for $19.

Healthy hygiene reminders:

- Use bottled water for brushing your teeth and cleaning your toothbrush. Keep shower water out of your eyes and mouth. You can buy hydrogen peroxide at a local pharmacy.
- In some places (though not all) the use of toilet paper is not a tradition in India. Water is always provided in Indian toilets (including the one at the Institute) for washing after using the toilet; use only your left hand for this. Take your toilet paper to the Institute (for drying purposes only); place it in the wastebasket near the toilet.
- After using the toilet, wash your hands and feet before coming into the asana hall.
- Traditionally, Indians eat with their right hands (see above for Indian toilet customs).
- Eat the local yogurt (curds), which provides good bacteria (lactobacillus acidophilus) that reduce the number of bad bacteria in the gut. In addition, it is a good idea to take some kind of probiotic (good bacteria) supplement—you can get it at any good health food store. Additional fiber in the diet (such as Metagenics Herbulk or a similar mixed-fiber product) can also be useful. Efficient elimination reduces the risk of a parasitic infection.
- Products such as Tyler Para-Gard and Metagenics Ultra Parex are worth taking on a daily basis. They both contain a blend of anti-parasitic herbs. Garlic is also an effective antibacterial and anti-parasitic herb.
- Carry cold and cough medications that you like, so that if you happen to contract a respiratory infection, you'll have these items on hand. It's common to get a cold while visiting. Herbal tea can be handy as well.

- A neti pot and salt used at the end of each day is a good preventative and helps rid one of pollution.

FOOD

Vegetarian food in India includes milk and milk products, but not eggs, which along with seafood are considered to be non-vegetarian. Prepackaged foods are marked with either a red or green dot in a square frame, denoting non-vegetarian and vegetarian food, respectively.

The most popular foods in Pune are thali and South Indian food. A thali literally means “a plate.” A thali generally includes two or three vegetables, pulses (peas, beans or lentils), salad, curd (yogurt), dal, and chapati or roti. Most thali restaurants provide an unlimited amount of food at a fixed price. A thali is a wholesome, nutritious meal.

Restaurants – Thali and South Indian Cuisine

Asha Dining Hall. 1224, Apte Road, Shivaji Nagar. Across the street from Hotel Shreyas. Behind the Danraj Co-Housing Society sign (a very visible sign—the Asha sign is hidden by a tree). This thali restaurant serves decent, wholesome food at a reasonable price. Tel: 2553 2424; 6602 7149. A favourite with Iyengar students.

Badshahi. Tilak Road.

Darshan: Prabhat road. From a food blogger and Iyengar student, “Just an weird assortment of delicious food. It's almost like the owner decided what dishes he was going to make and then decided to make them without referring to any recipe or person that might know anything about the dish. All the food is surprisingly delicious, although bears little or no resemblance to the original dish. Try the pizza; it is not even close to anything that you might know as pizza. The supreme pizza has cashews and raisins on it. I'll leave it at that!” This place has a nice pomegranate juice drink.

Jagruti Dining Hall. Raviwar Peth. A thali favorite, near the Sugandhi perfume store (opposite the railway booking office). Tel: 2445 3231.

Tel: 25672141. Provides a more elaborate thali for a slightly higher price.

Rasoi. Keller Road. Exact address??

Shreyas Hotel Restaurant. 1242, Apte Road, Deccan Gymkhana. “Great all-you-can-eat thali.”

Highly recommended: Sukanta Pure Veg. 636, Deccan Gymkhana, near Z Bridge, off Jangli Maharaja Road, Pulachi Wada. They do great takeout. Open from 11:30 am to 3 pm and 7 pm until closing. “It gets very busy after 8 pm.”
Tel: 2553 0077; 6601 3222.

Other popular South Indian foods include idli, dosas, uttapam and wada pav. Basically fermented foods composed of powdered pulses and rice, they take care of most of your daily dietary requirements and are extremely tasty. The main dish is accompanied by side dishes, or chutneys, made of coconut and chilies, and sambhar, which are sometimes a little spicy. The main dish is not spicy.

Shiv Sagar. Veg Restaurant. Dealing Courner, Jangali Maharaj Road, Opp Sambhaji Park. Tel: 25532179/255368886. Serves great tandoori panir and vegetables.

Rajasthani & Gujurati Thali food at Mayur. This is just a small cozy restaurant with loads of food ! <http://www.mayurthali.com/home.html>

The Coffee House

Vast Asian menu including Chinese simple homemade good food.

 This came in as a recommendation, but I do not have the address or any contact info. If anyone has been to this restaurant, please send in details.*

Popular Fergusson College Road restaurants serving South Indian food:

Lalit Mahal. End of Hare Krishna Mandir Road (beyond the Chetak and the Ambassador) at the junction of Fergusson College Road. Good basic food. At breakfast time, you can get great upma. They serve real coffee. Tel: 2556 6457.

Roopali. Fergusson College Road. Has very good thalis. They also serve good upma at breakfast time (get there before 10:30am). Very popular with the locals. The staff is friendly and understanding.

Vaishali. Fergusson College Road. Good dosas, great sweet kachuries.

Rama Krishna is a fast food type of a restaurant, which is near MG Road and serves great Dosa and other food items very hygienic.

Hotel Rama Krishna, 6, Moledina Road, Opp. West End Theatre, Camp, Pune-1 Tel - 020- 26363936

Other popular restaurants offering a variety of foods:

Amrapali. Fergusson College Road (down the lane, near Roopali, then ask).

Aroma Restaurant – The Ambience Hotel. Lakaki Road, Model Colony.

Aappa Located next to Deccan Gymkhana Grounds, not at all a fancy place, no signage, popular with the locals. Excellent Idli and Sabhudhana Khichadi. Closes at noon.

Cafe Good luck Deccan Gymkhana, FC Road, phone: 020-25676893 This is as close as you will get to a Indian diner. Popular with students.

Editor: I just go for the unspoiled interior. I hope they never modernize!

Recommended: Ram Krishna. 6, Moledina Road, Camp. Opposite the West End Theatre. This high-end restaurant is the perfect place to dine when shopping on M.G. Road. At the exterior are huge murals of the Ramayana. Ask to sit in the inner dining room where it's air conditioned and quiet. Gracious waiters. Tel: 2633 0724; 2636 3938.

Shabree. 119/1A, Fergusson College Road. Tel: 2553 1511/2/3/4.

Shravan. Around the corner from the Lalit Mahal on Fergusson College Road, left, toward the police ground. Shravan always has fresh flowers and clean linen on its tables, and it's reasonably priced with a varied menu. Tel: 2565 4914.

Surya Hotel Restaurant, now called Hotel Rendezvous. Apte Road.

Restaurant for lunch or dinner, also nice and bustling on the weekends: Shabree and Sharvaree. FC Road near to Fergusson College Gate, located just off the corner behind a temple. Tel: 020-255-31511. The two restaurants are in the same building. Shabree, located downstairs, has what they describe as "Maharashtrian Thali" and Sharavree, which is upstairs, has typical Indian fare with some local selections as well. They are both a little pricey compared to other places on F.C. Road but nice if you want a break from the hustle and bustle and you need a/c.

The German Bakery is still not open but it is due to open any day now complete with a security gate.

Note from a student: "The little silver shop next door to the bakery is living in fear of his livelihood as they are bulldozing all illegal shops and stalls in that area. We watched them doing it – tragic".

Out Of The Blue is a restaurant at E Square at the Lobby Level where the old Jazz by the Bay used to be. Website - <http://www.outoftheblue.in/out-of-the-blue-pune.html>

Miscellaneous food around Pune

This section was sent to me by an Iyengar student. "A person from Pune who lives in New York now writes a food blog and suggested these places and items to me."

Editor: much of this list comes with no address. If you manage to track any of this down, please send me details!

Marzarin (very simple white bread sandwiches like you've never had before). Highly recommended.

Budhani. This is a store that makes fresh potato chips and sprinkles it with your choice of spice. It is right opposite Marzarin. After this Lays just won't cut it.

Mainland China. Boat Club Road. This is a completely different cuisine. Indian/Chinese. Now also in Senapati Bapat Road: 15 minutes walk from the Institute.

Kayani Bakery for the best Parsi confectioneries with recipes from the British Raj.

Bakers Basket, a bakery on Bhandarkar Rd sells the best Black forest pastry you'll ever have. When I lived there, they soaked it with pure Rum. Hopefully they're still continuing the tradition.

Coconut Water from a street vendor. You'll find this pretty much anywhere and realize how Zico is just a lot of rubbish!

Curry on the Roof: Prabhat Road. Good Punjabi food.

Panchavati: A good traditional Maharashtrian thali.

Ban Tao: at Ista Hotel for Thai and Asian. (great ambience)

High Spirits: hosts some of the best stand up comedian shows. High Spirits is next to ABC Farms in Koregaon Park

Thursday Tango Nights at Oakwood Premier, Koregaon Park Annex ahead of Westin Hotel.

Rooftop Bar at Paasha at Marriott Hotel and Convention Centre. Great Indian food.

Aadha at O Hotel rooftop also a great place.

Cake Shop – Forennte (020 324000450) & London Muffin @ Lane 8, Between Lane 6 and 7 Koregaon Park. Closed on Thursdays. Forennte has the best chocolate éclair in town.

Also the coffee shop Go

Italian Food

Italian Food has become quite popular in Pune. A few possibilities are:

Darios. At Hotel Sunderban, Lane 1, 19 Koregaon Park, pune 411001.

Tel: 020 26053597, 26053596, 32405960. Email: info@darios.in.

La Dolce Vita. Shop Nos. 3 & 4, City Point, Dhole Patil Road. Tel: 2614 5555.

La Pizzeria. 361, Bund Garden Road. Tel: 2613 3535.

Little Italy. Hotel Shrima, Bund Garden Road. Tel: 2613 6565. Highly recommended.

Little Italy Pizzeria Restaurant, next to Pune Central, on University/Ganesh Kind Road (around the corner from RIMYI), is a regular haunt for RIMYI students who crave a change from Indian food. It is a bit pricey: 800 rupees for a meal with a mocktail (fresh juice). It is all vegetarian and has Mexican and Indian as well as Italian menus. It's part of a large chain with locations throughout India.

Or if you're in the mood: Over in Pune Camp at the SGS Magnum Mall on Moledina Road there is a Pizza Hut.

Polka Dots, Next to Bishops School, Kalyani Nagar and also at Aundh Shop No 1 & 6 Vaishnavi Apartment, D P Road, Aundh, Pune, Maharashtra 411007

Flags, next to Inox Multiplex.

Alto Vino at the Pune Marriott Hotel and Convention Centre.

Favola at Le Meridian Hotel.

Café Mangi at Pheonix Market City, Vimannagar and also at Amanora Park Town.

Buffets

Le Meridien Hotel. Bund Garden Road. The breakfast and lunch buffets can be a treat. It's expensive—the lunch buffet includes unlimited wine. Le Meridian also has a rooftop pool where you can swim for around $10. Tel: 2605 0505.

The best buffet in town is at the recently renovated Pride Hotel, about a five-minute walk from the Institute. This is a great place to go for drinks or a going-away party. Check out the coffee shop and the restaurant upstairs.

The O Hotel, North Main Road, Koregaon Park Pune 411001

Great food and great service.

Sweet shops

Chocolate purveyor —next door to Fantasy on Boat Club Road.

Mithas. Shop No. 5, Sri Siddeshwar Heights, ITI Road, Aundh. Well worth the 15-minute drive—delicious sweets. Tel: 2588 8456. Highly recommended. One minute away from Geeta Bhojwani's store: Arnav. See: Clothing, Crafts and Gifts.

Chitale in Deccan Gymkhana at the bottom of FC Road on the corner, near the "grounds" for the best Maharashtrian sweets.

Naturals Ghole Rd, Shivaji Nagar, Tel: 020 25521817. Ice-cream chain, quite delicious, not too sweet. Try the chiku ice cream. They offer flavors made from the fruits of the season.

Grocery Stores

- Dorabjee's, Moldina Road (just before M.G. Road, down the street from Mannys Bookstore) has almost everything you forgot to bring or could ever want, e.g., real Dutch Gouda cheese. This store now has a good supply of gluten free products.
- Foodland, on Bhandarkar Road, is large supermarket—it even has tampons.
- For all kinds of khakara, go to Kantaben, opposite Chitale's Shop, Shanipar.
- Maharashtra, “The Parade”, just around the (Toyota dealership) corner from Hari Krishna Mandir, has fresh milk, yogurt, ghee, spices, rice, mung dal, etc. They are very helpful. Don't be thrown by the line cutting.
- OM Supermarket, Gokhale Road.
- Organics and Natural is a new shop. 1 Kamaliga Apartment, 1306 Bank of Baroda Lane, Jangli Maharaj Road. Open from 10 am to 2 pm and 4 pm to 8 pm. Closed Sunday. Tel: 2553 6835.
- Pune Central shopping mall, opposite the Institute, has a food department—and much more.
- Spicer College Store, in Wonderland, M.G. Road, is around the corner from Dorabjee's. Soy milk shakes, fresh-ground, unsweetened peanut butter, cookies, nut cakes, apple pies, millet and whole wheat bread. Some products contain milk and/or honey so ask. This store is a satellite of the Seventh Day Adventists School, Spicer College. The college and its other store are in Aundt, beyond Pune University. Some of its branded products are available in small grocery stores. On Sunday the Aundt location is open from 9 am to 9 pm.
- Whole Foods, toward Bund Garden Road, carries brown rice, extra virgin olive oil, soy milk, etc.

Fruit and Vegetable Carts

The fruit and vegetable carts (the vegetable seller is a “bhaji wallah”) are outside the Institute daily from about 9 am to 11 am.

You can also go to the fruit and vegetable market near the Institute at the top of Hari Krishna Mandir Road (opposite the bank): Turn right at the Toyota dealership, pass the Maharashtra grocery store (where you can pick up staples like rice, oil, bread, milk and curd, as well as tea and coffee, Nescafé, spices) and walk straight ahead until you come to the next road (traffic junction “chowk”) and see Charu’s, a restaurant with yellow awnings. Turn right and walk on until you come to the market on your left. Often between 10 - 12 and 4 - 8 you will find vendors as well near the Toyota dealership and on the corner Charu’s is on.

There is a large vegetable market, which is fairly amazing called Mandai market. It is located next to Tulsi Baugh. The architecture of the building the market is in is also interesting. The vendors inside are more expensive while the quality of inside and outside seem to be the same. The best days to go are Saturday and early Sunday, as early as 8 am. In Tulsi Baugh one can find almost anything. It gets extremely busy on the weekends. Most stores open at 10, this is the best time to go. Most shops will close from 12 - 4 generally.

Large fruit and veg market on Gokhale rd near OM supermarket

Ingredients Shopping List

If you are living in one of the apartments that Sharda is caring for (next to Hari Krishna Mandir Road), ask her to arrange to have Shantabai prepare Marathi food for you. Marathi cooking is basically the same as ayurvedic cooking.

You’ll need to buy the following basic ingredients:

Grains:

- Basmati rice (large bag)
- Rava, for cooking upma (it’s like semolina)
- Poha (flattened rice)
- Flour for making chapati, paratha and other breads

Spices:

- Black mustard seeds
- Cumin seeds (jeera) and powder
- Turmeric powder (haldi) (whole fresh turmeric is available beginning in November at the open markets)
- Asafoetida (hing) (small container)
- Chili powder
- Cashew nuts

- Coriander powder and seeds
- Ginger powder
- Cardamom powder and whole cardamom seeds
- Saffola oil (large bottle)
- Ghee (clarified butter)

Pulses:

- Mung dal (lentils)

Other:

- Sugar (chinni)
- Tea, coffee, bottled water, etc.

Vegetables are “bhaji” in Marathi. The man at the Maharashtra store speaks English, so he can help you, otherwise ask Sharda to organize things for you. Or, you can either give Shantabai +/-50 rupees (just over $1) once or twice a week and she will buy the vegetables for you. She has her flour ground at the mill to make chapati, etc. Shantabai or Gangubai also does the laundry daily. “We boiled tap water for tea and cooking. Our cooking expenses for the month came to $10 for two and our laundry cost us about $2 each a month.” “Prices have gone up all round since this was written,” a student commented.

Cook

Anita is a well-known cook at the apartment building next to the Institute. She will cook for students anywhere in the Model Colony area. Tel: 997-001-6270. Do not have her shop for you; buy your own food and necessities. Do not allow the help to bring others into the apartment when they are working.

Editor’s note: This is the only cook with phone number I have managed to find. There must be many more who would like to be listed. Please send in your recommendations.

Soaps and toiletries

Over in Pune Camp at the SGS Magnum Mall, on Moledina Road, you can find a Body Shop, with a full assortment of cremes and shampoos. Recommended: the Olive Oil Shampoo and Conditioner.

Bookstores

Bookword Basement. 616, Sagar Arcade, Fergusson College Road. Helpful. Huge stock of books. The store will order a book if it doesn't have it.

Crosswords. The Jangali Maharaj Road location is closed. There is a store at the E-Square Multiplex and another, nicer one near Model Colony, at ICC Trade Towers, Senapati Bapat Road.

The International Booksellers. Deccan Gymkhana, on Fergusson College Road toward the Deccan Bridge area (at Deccan Corner). The store has a lot of textbooks. Closed Sunday. Tel: 2567 7405.

Also in Pune Camp at the SGS Magnum Mall, you'll find Landmark, a large bookstore with discount prices on many items.

As of March 2012, Mannys Booksellers is no longer trading. This popular 63-year-old bookstore, part of erstwhile Pune has closed. Manik Mani who took over the store started by his father, the late VG Manny on November 1, 1948 said he is "...calling it a day because I want to spend time with my three little grandchildren, my daughters and my wife." Manny's will be greatly missed.

RIYMI. The store carries an extensive collection of books written by Guruji. They also carry some guide books including My Pune Travel, published by Elephant and Mahratta Chamber of Commerce, Industry and Agriculture, 2006. Also available at the Institute store is a new edition of the Pune Tourist Guide and Map.

Music stores

For CD's and tapes: Alurkar Music House, Swapna Nagari, Karve Road (just past the Ayurvedic Research Institute, known in Marathi as "Rashashala"). The owner speaks English and the shop has a good selection of all kinds of music—mantras, kirtan, bhajans, ragas, etc. Tel: 2544 0662.

Oceanic Sound and Vision. M.G. Road, just opposite Wonderland. This is a good place to buy DVD's.

There's also a music store above OM Supermarket, Gokhale Road.

Electronics

Das Electric. Near Bombay Garage on M.G. Road. Blenders, fans, etc.

Croma. Sorry, no address.

Assorted

Subhash Bucket and Trunk Depot. Shukarwar Peth, Tel: 9270699352
Metal Indian Trunks - all sizes, nice to have when back at home. These are inexpensive although they can dent easily when in transit (part of the charm?). Near to Tulsi Baugh, Laxmi Road / main shopping area.

Sayali Florist. F. C. Road, near to Vaishali and Aroma coffee shop, Tel: 9822048050, ask for Vijay the owner, the nicest flowers around with fair prices.

Coffee Cravings:

Real ground coffee, reasonably priced, is available in Pune at Kamaradhara Traders, Coffee Merchants, 1249/50 Greetwel Building, near the Goodluck Chowk, Deccan Gymkhana. If you walk up the F-C Road past Roopauli, turn left at the open-air flower stand and it is in an arcade there. Open 9 – 1 p.m. and 4-8:30. Closed Mondays. Phone 2553 2918
